Chairman
Northrop Grumman Corporation

Wes Bush is chairman of Northrop Grumman Corporation, a leader in global security.

He served as chief executive officer from 2010 through 2018 and as chairman since 2011.

Prior to 2010, Bush served as the president and chief operating officer of the company. Before that, he served as the corporate vice president and chief financial officer, and earlier, as the president of the company's Space Technology sector. Prior to the acquisition of TRW by Northrop Grumman, he had served since 2001 as president and chief executive officer for TRW's UK-based global Aeronautical Systems. Bush joined TRW in 1987 as a systems engineer, and served in engineering, program management and business development roles in TRW's Space & Electronics business. Prior to joining TRW, he held engineering positions with both the Aerospace Corporation and Comsat Labs.

Bush earned a bachelor's degree and a master's degree in electrical engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He also completed the University of California, Los Angeles' Executive Management Program. Bush serves on the board of directors of Norfolk Southern Corporation and on the Dow Advisory Committee. He also serves on the boards of several nonprofit organizations, including Conservation International, the Inova Health System and the USO Board of Governors. Bush is a member of the National Academy of Engineering.
